THE OLD FASHIONED FOURTH
By KENNETH HARRIS

Bim! Bang! Boom!
Nay, gentle child,
No bun-bag booming please on this occasion.
Clear thy young brow of gloom,
Yield to persuasion,
And draw it mild.
Or we shall have the Anti-Noise Society
Driven clean wild.
Let's celebrate this Fourth with due propriety.
Cut out the crackers. They are not the cheese.
(Excuse the wheeze)
Forget the roman candles and the rockets.
Drop from your pockets
The bombs, gun-cotton, cordite, giant powder,
And such with which they are crammed,
And jammed,
And don't you holler louder
Than a mere whisper. Though it may give you pain,
Be sane!

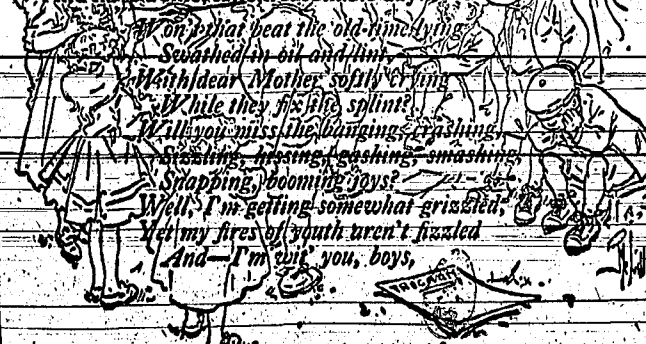

Still our memory fondly lingers
On the missing ears,
Shattered limbs and severed fingers
Of the bygone years,
Of the merry mutilation
Dyed with gore stain
Of the old-time celebration
When we were not sane.

No, little lad,
That cute toy pistol must be confiscated.
It's mighty sad,
But sober modern thought has put the ban on
The small brass cannon.
The fire balloon, too, may not be inflated.
No blaze
Of burning barrels soaked with bubbling tar
May tinge the sky with red.
The Fourth is simply dead
These days.
Our civic culturists with edicts bar
The nigger-chaser with his cheerful crack.
You must not now insert
One of them down your little brother's back
Inside his shirt.
And you're denied the one chance to admire
The spectacle of Benson's barn afire.
It goes against the grain,
But still, be sane!

Yes, it's almost past endurance.
Arson's now a crime.
There's no tax on fire insurance
At this special time.
No one's ear drums will be blasted
With the frequent strains
Of no wonder you're disgusted
Now the Fourth is sane.

Dear Child, that's easy.
You'll walk in glad procession, two by two
Or six abreast
To listen to some fluent, fat and greasy
Old wind-bag with a wide, expansive vest.
And he'll orate
About our copper-bottomed ship of state
And tell of GEORGE
And his brave Hessians there at Valley Forge
And how they met
The blooming British led by La Fayette
And gave them such a scare
That they instantly crossed
The border to the Depths of the Delaware
When you sing
My Country, or some patriotic thing
And shout Hooray
And have a line-sane, reasonable day.

SAGINAW BOOSTERS COME TO GRAYLING.

Manufactures and Wholesalers Association on North-eastern Michigan Trip.

The special train bearing some of the members of the Saginaw manufacturers and wholesalers arrived in Grayling at 5:30 Tuesday p. m. and a hasty visit was made to some of our merchants and an exchange of friendly greetings. Supper was served in the depot dining room and attended by a few invited guests from our city.

Brief remarks were made by President Edwards Schust who acted as toastmaster and called upon Postmaster Bates, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Herrick and Mr. Bennett; the latter two speaking for the M. C. railroad. Also John W. Ladd and Joseph P. Tracy, Secretary of Saginaw Board of Trade gave brief talks. Mr. Tracy gracefully introduced our Mr. R. Hanson, who had just entered the dining room, and who was warmly greeted by this crowd of Saginaw's leading business promoters. Mr. Hanson extended a cordial welcome and received a hearty applause.

The impromptu talks were very brief as only an hour was scheduled for their stay in Grayling, and the time went only too quickly. They were soon hustled away to Gaylord where they were to spend the night and attend a reception given in their honor by the citizens of that city.

Following is a list of those who were in the party:
Saginaw Board of Trade, Joseph P. Tracy; Michigan Trade Review, John H. Perrier; Saginaw Daily News, Chas. H. Manning; Saginaw Courier Herald, H. B. Dinsy; Phipps Penoyer & Co., C. E. Boland; Alert Pipe & Supply Co., A. MacLachlan, Mgr.; Chas. W. Henning & Sons, Leonard Henning; Mich. Glass Co., Lewis Barnard, Sec.; Melze Alderton Shoe Co., A. C. Melze, Vice President and W. E. Guy, J. B. Goetz Sons, Henry W. F. Goetz; John W. Ladd & Co., John W. Ladd, President; Moley Brothers, A. E. Kendall, C. B. Phillips; Michigan Sugar Co., Chas. W. Bradford; Mich. State Telephone Co., A. J. Peckham, H. R. Mason, H. Watson & Co., H. Watson; Second National Bank, L. A. Keeler; Eastern Hauling Wagon Co., H. W. Klingey, Sales Mgr.; Saginaw Milling Co., J. H. Logan; Symons Brothers & Co., S. B. Symons; Saginaw Valley Drug Co., John W. Smart, A. L. Regener; Consolidated Coal Co., S. E. Trot; The M. W. Tanner Co., G. W. Lixby Jr.; Henry W. Carr Co., Henry W. Carr; Lee & Cady, Walter H. Lewis, Vincent J. Byerlein; Saginaw Hardware Co., Wm. Seyffardt; Mich. Creamery Co., C. E. Cornwell; Schust Baking Co., Edward Schust; Northeastern Development Bureau, T. F. Marston; Remington Typewriter Co., Bernard Ober.

Modern commercial activity is an economic sentence. It is no longer a haphazard, drifting movement; it is no longer a free-for-all engagement of miscellaneous business houses, in quest of financial gain, individually. Commerce of today is a united forward movement, advancing under a constructive policy. The sound, underlying principles of political economy are applied with intelligence and wisdom. A definite policy is pursued, fixed after a careful survey of the proposition, by the best minds and most advanced knowledge of hand.

The trade extension trip of the Saginaw Wholesalers and Manufacturers Association is based on such a fundamental foundation. The rules of pioneering, rather than temporary individual gain, are the guiding tenets of these trips. As the early pioneers advanced into the native forests, faced hardships and great toll, in order that future generations may have homesteads and happiness from the native assets, so the commercial pioneers of today paying due consideration to the future commercial life in the undeveloped sections which were blazed by our hardy forefathers. The commercial pioneers of today, realizing the obligation to future generations of business men in the section that will enjoy the great commercial expansion of our state during the next several decades, desire to be equal to the agency of close personal relationship and contribute and co-operate with those on the developing scene. Thus a species of commercial statesmanship comes into being, for-sighted and wise, patiently pursuing a fixed purpose, constructing commerce along specifications, that shall support a strong generation, and be the medium of wealth and happiness.

The active influence in this movement are young men of achievement in eastern Michigan. Those to whom discouragement means increased thought and energy; those, whose thrift and enterprise means not a personal goal of ease and luxury, but a solicitation for a more enlightened posterity, their prosperity, contentment and happiness. Edward Schust, President of the Saginaw Wholesalers and Manufacturers Association is a young man just thirty years of age. From a baker's son to the industrial chief of a great manufacturing baking institution, whose business spans the entire state, Mr. Schust is a striking example of hustle, tempered with thrift, of modern methods, seasoned with proper conservation. The signal success of the Schust Baking Company within a very few years, is an illustrious example of opportunity well taken; of industry, enterprise and ability.

John W. Ladd chairman of the Trade Interests Committee of the association is another type of young business life in eastern Michigan that is a factor in the commercial statesmanship, now so vigorous. Less than ten years ago he was the possessor of an idea, coupled with a great courage and a fixed purpose which were his only assets in business. Difficulties and disappointments during the period since, have been only incidents to a end. The ultimate development of the dormant resources of the estates as allied with creamery and dairy commerce, have been pursued with a steadfast purpose, to the extent that today John W. Ladd as head of the John W. Ladd Company stands as the personification of the pioneers in creamery industrialism.

Life sketches could be drawn of many other active members of the Saginaw Wholesalers and Manufacturers Association in connection with this pioneer industrial movement in northeastern Michigan but with these the present directing officials sufficient illustration can be given in the great underlying principles of this commercial organization.

The continuous efforts of T. F. Marston, Secretary of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau fittingly belong to consideration in this connection. For it is to him and his tireless energy and ability that the practical advancement of the development of northeastern Michigan is due.

Thus it is seen that trade extension work is not a joy ride amid the luxury of Pullman service, as an abstract proposition, but it is a pioneer engagement wherein commercial statesmanship puts forth its greatest effort and has for its ultimate aim the transformation of the wilderness into a farmland, the country corner into a town, the town into an industrial metropolis, indeed the vitalizing of native resources into exchangeable wealth.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

THERE'S a treat in store for you if you have not met Big Ben. You may have read his Ads in the big magazines, but these are not half strong enough. I don't think they begin to do him justice.

In fact, no Ad can, so I won't attempt to write one about him. This announcement is simply an invitation for you to walk by my store and meet him.

GRAYLING, THURSDAY, JUNE 27

James Boyd Woodburn.

James Boyd Woodburn was born in Novi, Oakland county, Mich., July 20, 1861.

Mr. Woodburn's ancestors were of the Scotch-Covenanter stock, who something over 200 years ago resisted the power of the English royalty to stamp out Presbyterianism in Scotland.

The valley of Avondale and the forests and brags of the fatherland resonated with the voices of musketry and the songs of Zion.

Never lived a sturdier or more devout people than those Scotch Covenanters of the 17th Century.

"Thank God, the sword of religious persecution is, as we trust, forever sheathed in the home land of Bruce and Wallace and Knox, and all other lands where the English language is spoken."

The Woodburn family moved to Ingham county in 1869. Six years later they came to Crawford county, among those early pioneers who laid the foundations in this heart of the lower peninsula of Michigan.

They first settled at Pere, Cheney. Four years later they removed to Grayling where they have since resided.

Mr. Woodburn was united in marriage to Miss Emma Hostler in 1891. Five children were born to them, who with the wife and mother, remain to mourn the loss of a loving father and devoted husband. These children, all grown to manhood and womanhood, were all present at the funeral services, and are as follows: Mrs. Eva May Hunter, of Lakeview, Mich.; Mr. Boyd, mail agent on the L. S. & M. St. R. R.; Bertha Lillian, Ernest Richard and Earl Frank, all of Grayling.

Mr. Woodburn's long residence in Grayling, where he is so well known as a trusted employee of the M. C. R. R., an upright citizen and kind neighbor, is all too fresh in the minds of this community to need elaborate mention.

His life is more eulogy than mere words can give. His sudden departure June 22, when his friends fondly believed he was on the road to recovery, cast a gloom over the entire community.

Services were held at the Woodburn home on Tuesday, at 3:30 P. M., and was largely attended. Rev. J. Humphrey Fleming preached the sermon. The choir consisted of Mesdames O. Michelson, T. Hanson, M. Hanson and Miss Sias.

Burial was in the family lot in Elmwood cemetery.

Charron-Langton

Mr. Joseph Charron of Maple Forest and Mrs. Josephine Langton, of Muskegon, were united in marriage at St. Mary's church last week, Thursday, Rev. Father Riess performing the ceremony.

Mr. Charron is one of our progressive farmers of Maple Forest and is well known all over this county. He has a host of friends who welcome his bride and will do their best to make her new home a pleasant one.

Last Sunday noon a wedding reception was held at their home and a bountiful banquet served to the guests, who on departing wished for this happy couple many years of joy and prosperity. "The Avalanche joins with them in their best wishes."

Resolutions.

As it has pleased the Ruler of the Universe to call from our midst, Mrs. Francis Parker, mother of our beloved brother, and sister companion, be it therefore

Resolved, that the members of Maplewood Arbor 1029 A. O. U. G., extend their heartfelt sympathy toward the bereaved husband and family and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, and also published in the county paper.

July American Magazine.

The leading feature in the July American Magazine is a new story by Rudyard Kipling entitled "The Benevolent." It is a story founded on the coal strike in England and is interesting because it presents a view of the thing. It is really a warning to labor.

A remarkable article in this issue of the magazine is the story of Carol Woelhaeff, by Ida M. Tarbell. Carol Woelhaeff was a rich New York girl who declined to live a life of luxury, and threw herself into certain useful activities with resultant interesting experiences and adventures which Miss Tarbell describes intimately and entertainingly.

Ray Stannard Baker, Senator of Polkette, Walter Peckham Betton and Hugh S. Fullerton contribute other articles. Notable fiction is contributed by Kathleen Norris, Olive Higgins Prouty, Juliet Wilbur, Tompkins and H. G. Wells.

Miss Martin, Indiana's funny man, writes a piece about the old-fashioned Fourth of July, and F. P. Dunno writes an amazingly able and moving editorial on the Titanic disaster.

Lovells' Locals.

The guests at "The Underhill" have caught 1,127 trout up to date.

Mrs. Chas. Morrow, who has been quite ill of late, is now on the mend.

Robert Papenfus and wife were Grayling callers on Friday of last week.

Several of our townsmen attended the ball game in Grayling, last Sunday.

E. S. Houghton, T. E. Douglas, and Fred Lee were Grayling callers, on Monday.

Wm. Marab, Jr., is home again after a very pleasant stay with friends in Rosecommon.

Mesdames J. J. Kennedy and Mary Kennedy, were Lewiston callers on Friday of last week.

Isaac Goodale, who suffered a severe attack of rheumatism recently, has almost entirely recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Howes, of Maple Forest, spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday with E. S. Houghton and family.

Marion Hay and son, of Butler, Pa., spent a few days at "The Underhill," the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Kiester, who has been a guest at "The Underhill" for the past few weeks, will occupy the Hays cottage on Shoepack lake the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark, of the Kuehl ranch, are enjoying a visit from the former's mother and two uncles, the Messrs. Smith of Rose City and San Francisco, Cal.

Mrs. Mary Kennedy and her little grandson, who have visited at the home of Joseph Kennedy for the past few weeks, left on Tuesday for Alpena. Norman Kennedy accompanied them.

Mrs. Thos. McDouglis is suffering serious indisposition through fright in extracting her cow from the railroad track at the peril of her life by a passing train. She is much commended for her bravery.

Miss Gladys Shingeland, who is spending a few weeks at the home of Mrs. James Milne in Saginaw, is suffering a badly fractured left arm. As competent physicians were called, she is gaining rapidly, and her anxious parents are consequently very much relieved.

Beaver Creek Breezes.

Mr. Andrew Mortenson has been quite ill during the past week.

Lewis Cook went to Flint last week to be with his wife who is quite ill.

Herbert Parker and family have moved to the home of his father, Mr. Lewis Parker.

Children's day exercises were held by the Union Sunday school at the school house Sunday evening and the following program was rendered:

Greeting song, 14 boys and girls.

Prayer, Rev. Etheridge.

Recitation, "This Day is Ours," Beattie Parker.

Concerted recitation, "So Will We," Six boys and girls.

Recitation, "We Keep the Blessed Children's Day," Claire Parker.

Recitation, "Plant a Rose," Three girls.

Song, "Sing in His Love," Fourteen boys and girls.

Recitation, "The Way of Love," Fern Hanna.

Happy Rose Girls, Four girls.

Recitation, "No Home," Matilda Moon.

Song, Choir.

Dialogue, "Just help each other along," Percy Failing and Claude Parker.

Recitation, "Make your own place," Edgar Mahorter.

Concerted recitation, Five girls.

Dialogue, "Have you any stars in your crown," Matilda Moon and Pearl Kolan.

Song, Fourteen boys and girls.

Address, Rev. Etheridge.

Recitation, "Lamb of the Flock," Beattie Parker.

Recitation, "Let us call a halt," Four boys and girls.

Song, Boys and girls.

Recitation, Six boys and girls.

Recitation, "A Rose in Every Garden," Fred Belmont.

Recitation, "The Sunday School Army," Six boys.

Recitation, "Children's day the best," Claude Parker.

Song, Mr. Cook.

Recitation, "God will understand," Lillian Mortenson.

A Wreath of Roses, Seven Girls.

Remarks, Mr. Merrill.

Song, Choir.

The school house was crowded and the children carried out the program in a very creditable manner. Mrs. Rowe presided at the organ.

Marriage Licenses Issued.

Robert Fox and Lillie Bell White, of Grayling. Married by Justice Mahon.

Coy H. Sohn, of Lovells and Bertha Joseph, of Rosecommon.

Joseph Charron, of Maple Forest, and Josephine Langton, of Muskegon. Married by Father John Riess.

Richard Sturges Babbitt, of Grayling and Bertha Elizabeth Haggli, of Sjeceling. Will be married at Sterling.

The AuSable Valley Breezes.

T. K. Root, of Chicago, is at George Stephan's, fishing for trout.

Chas. Amfoss, Frank Severn and Mr. Hartwell are building the field stone fire place at camp Whippoorwill.

The down river men has awakened from his Van Winkle sleep, trimmed his beard and will handle the goose quill again.

Dave Kneeth and Henry Stephan's colts, one black and one bay, both two years old have strayed. Has any one seen them?

Last Sunday, June 16, was the day you should have gone fishing, the trout bit ravenously. Some big catches were made that day.

George Stephan sold one of his horses to Dave Kneeth. Dave has a good horse, and George is breaking his colt to take the place of the one sold.

The bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Sipe, are spending their honeymoon at the hatchery creek cottage. Even the trout, thereabout are spooning, they come up at the flies in pairs.

Miss Bertha Haggli closed a successful term of school at the Stephan district, June 21. We understand Dick will accompany her home. We surmise that her name will be changed to Mrs. Babbitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerce are up at camp Wawasum, trout fishing. Mr. Gerce is an old fisherman and a member of the Castall trout club, but Mrs. Gerce made him feel like a tenderfoot as she beat him both in numbers and size two days in succession.

Dairy Exhibit at State Fair.

Many innovations have been announced for the Michigan State Fair which opens Sept. 10th next and others are to come from time to time. The Board of Directors of the State Fair announces the construction of the new dairy building, construction on which has been started. This will be 200 feet in length and 40 feet in width and together with the dairy barn erected last year from plans of the United States department of agriculture, will give a grand total of over 28,000 square feet of floor space devoted to dairying.

Many new features will be added to the dairy barn and the dairy building will contain every new feature known. The process of commercializing the milk of turning it into butter and of cheese making will be shown in the minutest detail. A huge box 100 feet long, twelve feet wide and fifteen feet high will take three car loads of milk during the week of the Fair. In a large lecture room 800 people will be seated comfortably. All of the latest and most modern machinery will be installed in both buildings. Carriers will take the food from the silo to the cattle and other carriers will take away the manure. Every ounce of food will be weighed and recorded and the record of each of the 40 high-breed cows will be kept and will be posted on each stallion.

The amount of milk obtained will also be recorded, and the test by Babcock tester will be given in the records. Separators will extract the cream and the milk will be sterilized for bottling. The dairy building will be a handsome building of red brick to the eills, then of frame to the roof, painted white. The roof will be of red slate and surmounted by a great white dome with red trimmings and a top of this a 75 foot flag pole. The dome will be in white with red trimmings. This building throughout was designed from plans secured in 1910 by Governor Osborn, T. F. Marston, Superintendent of the dairy department and Colin C. Lilly, chairman of the State Dairy Commission and it includes all of the advantages and none of the disadvantages of the buildings seen at six of the leading State Fairs of the country.

This State Dairy and Food Commission will maintain the records of the dairying operations and will also have in charge the inspection of all food on the grounds.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks and gratitude to our friends and neighbors for their kind assistance and sympathy rendered during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother.

The services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday will be as follows: Morning service at 10:30 a. m. Evening service at 7:30. Rev. E. H. Bradfield of Lapeer will preach at both services. The Christian Endeavor topic will be "Missionary progress in Africa."

Dr. and Mrs. O. Palmer left last Saturday for Chicago to meet with the National Press Association. After a four days executive session in the windy city they will go with other association members on a trip through South Dakota. Dr. and Mrs. Palmer expect to make a side trip to Nebraska to visit relatives before their return to Michigan.

Why don't the good people of Grayling who are interested in the welfare of the farmers, institute a farmers' rest room, or rooms where tired mothers could go when they come to town. Usually they work hard up to the minute they start and the ride is either hot or cold and when they get to town there is often a period of waiting that is very trying. When the cold winter comes if there were a comfortable room where men and boys could wait and talk matters over there would be more money to spend for necessities and less for "frecks."

A FARMER'S WISH

Lew F. Cutoch, of the St. Johns News, puts this one over: "A traveling man for a Chicago paper house who 'makes' St. Johns regularly told the News this story: He was in a smoking car on a train between Flint and Durand when a man rushed in from the car behind, evidently in great agitation, and said: 'Has any one in this car any whiskey? A woman in the other car has fainted.' Instantly a dozen flasks were produced and the man who asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork and put the bottle to his lips. With a long, satisfied sigh he handed the flask back and remarked: 'That did me lots of good. I need it, for it always makes me sick to see a woman faint away.'"

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. David Montour died at their home near the Danish church last Tuesday and the funeral was held from St. Mary's Catholic church this morning, at nine o'clock. Little Francis was one year and seven months old. Spinal Meningitis was the affliction that caused the death of this little boy. The parents have the sympathy of our community.

About forty young people were the guests at the home of John Malco at Maple Forest, Thursday evening at a delightful surprise party in honor of Miss Nina McVerb. Music and dancing were the chief amusements of the evening. At midnight a dainty luncheon of ice cream and cake was served. Miss McVerb has just completed a very successful term of school and she will be missed by her many friends.

Grant Shaw is building a fine new home on Michigan Avenue and one day last week while he and his son, Walter, were painting from a scaffold, it broke, letting them both fall to the ground. In the rapid transit, Mr. Shaw poured a large can of paint over his son and likewise Walter poured a gallon of schallac over his father. They were none the worse for the fall, except that Mrs. Shaw had to go down town for a gallon of gasoline with which to clean up the would-be painters.

Father Riess left last Monday for Cheboygan to attend the silver jubilee celebration of Rev. Father Weibeler's ordination to the priesthood. Father Weibeler was the first pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of this place when this was a mission of West Branch twenty-five years ago. At present Rev. Weibeler is stationed at Cheboygan and has charge of the largest Catholic congregation there. All the members of St. Mary's church here extend their best wishes to him on this joyful occasion and wish him to see his "golden jubilee" in the work of the vineyard of the Lord.

A large line of suits and pants on sale this week at Brenner's Cash Store.

Loyal Americans vs Grayling.

The local base ball patrons were privileged to witness two fine ball games last Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The Loyal Americans of Bay City crossed bats with our local favorites, dropping both games to the locals after hard and well fought battles.

Spencer and Bibbins were the battery, Saturday for the locals and held the visitors to three runs while our boys piled up seven.

The game was a sensational one, side of more than the usual amount of wrangling. It seemed that any close decision on the part of the umpire brought forth an avalanche of protests from the visitors. The game itself was an interesting one from start to finish. Spencer struck out 15 men during the first game.

Johnson pitched the game Sunday for Grayling and held the batters down to four hits and one score, while Grayling could only stack up five hits and as many scores. Haire for Bay City also pitched a masterful game and kept our local sluggers guessing everytime they came up to bat.

These two games were beautiful. Our boys are getting into their old time form and since the advent of Pitcher Spencer and Catcher Bibbins the bunch have ginged up to the Queen's taste.

Such ball playing should deserve the loyal patronage of our citizens.

At a meeting of the ball players, Tuesday night Catcher Bibbins was unanimously elected captain of our team for this season. The team is fortunate in having a player who has had the training and coaching that Mr. Bibbins has had and we can see no reason why Grayling shouldn't have an excellent season.

Signals have been given out and practice will begin on them at once, which should greatly improve the offensive and defensive work.

WHEN LIBERTY BELL RUNG INDEPENDENCE

THE story of the Declaration of Independence, which gave birth to a new nation among the powers of the world 126 years ago in Philadelphia, is full of the drama of history, from the moment of the inception of the idea to that fateful moment when the resounding clang of old Liberty Bell pronounced the deed accomplished. The story has been told so often that there is scarcely a new angle from which to view it, but to the younger generation of Americans the thrilling ride of Caesar Rodney is not so familiar as it well deserves to be, and will bear retelling.

The final debate in Congress, in the committee of the whole, upon the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, began at 9 o'clock on Monday, July 1. On that day Pennsylvania, seven of whose delegates were present, voted against adoption. The vote of Delaware, having two delegates present, was divided. Thereupon McKean, of Delaware, who had voted affirmatively, wrote a frantic letter to the absent Delaware delegate, Caesar Rodney, imploring him to come and cast his vote, and thus turn the scale for Delaware.

Rodney at the time was 80 miles away, at Dover, at one of the other of his farms, Hyfield and Pymper Grove. He suffered tortures from the cancer, which, starting on his nose, had spread so that he had to wear a green silk shield to hide the disfigurement; it was of this chronic affliction that he died. A contemporary chronicler describes him as "an animated skeleton—indeed, all spirit, without corporeal integument."

McKean's messenger left Philadelphia late in the afternoon of July 1. It was necessary to get Rodney back to Independence Hall by July 4, the day appointed for taking the vote upon the adoption of the Declaration. All night, all day he rode at top speed, and Rodney is supposed to have started on the return journey in the evening of the night.

The tale of Rodney's journey to Independence Hall is a story of heroism and sacrifice. He rode through the night, defying the elements and the distance, to ensure that the Declaration of Independence would be signed on the fourth of July.

INDEPENDENCE HALL

LIBERTY BELL

WASHINGTON AND HIS OFFICERS

When the Declaration of Independence was under the consideration of Congress, there were two or three unhappy expressions in it which gave offense to some members. The words "Scotch and other foreign assistants," excited the ire of a gentleman or two of that country. Severe strictures on the conduct of the British king, in negating our repeated appeals of the law which permitted the importation of slaves, were disapproved by some southern gentlemen. Although the offensive expressions were immediately yielded, these gentlemen continued their depredations on other parts of the instrument.

Franklin, who recalled that I was not insensible to these mutilations, said he "whenever in my power, to avoid becoming the draftsman of papers to be received by a public body, I took my lesson from an incident which I will relate to you. When I was a journeyman printer, one of my companions, an apprentice hatter, having served out his time, was about to open shop for himself. His first concern was to have a handsome signboard, with a proper inscription. He composed it in these words: 'John Thompson, hatter, makes and sells hats for ready money.' With a figure of a hat subtitled. But he thought he would submit it to his friends for their amendment. The first he showed it to thought the word 'hatter' tautologous, because followed by the words, 'makes hats,' which showed he was a hatter.

"It was struck out. The next observed that the word 'makes' might as well be omitted, because the customers would not care who made the hats. If good and to their mind, they would buy by whomsoever made. He struck it out. A third said he thought the words, 'for ready money,' were useless as it was not the custom of the place to sell on credit. Everyone who purchased expected to pay. They were parted with, and the inscription now stood: 'John Thompson sells hats.' 'Sells hats,' says his next friend. 'Why, nobody will expect you to give them away. What then is the use of that word?' It was struck out, and 'hats' followed it. So his inscription was reduced ultimately to 'John Thompson' with the figure of a hat subtitled.

In a letter to the editor of the Journal de Paris, Jefferson gives the following account of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. On the 7th of June, 1776, the delegates from Virginia moved, in obedience to instructions from their constituents, that Congress should declare the Thirteen United Colonies to be independent of Great Britain, that a confederation should be formed to bind them together, and measures be taken for procuring the assistance of foreign powers. The house ordered a punctual attendance of all their members the next day at 10 o'clock, and then resolved themselves into a committee of the whole, and entered on the discussion. It appeared in the course of debate that seven states, viz. New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia, were decided for a separation; but that six others still hesitated, to wit: New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and South Carolina. Congress, desirous of unanimity and seeing that the public mind was advancing rapidly to it, referred the further discussion to the 1st of July, appointing in the meantime a committee to prepare a Declaration of Independence, a second to form Articles of Confederation of the States, and a third to propose measures for obtaining foreign aid.

On the 28th of June, the Declaration of Independence was reported to the house, and was laid on the table for the consideration of the members. On the 1st day of July they resolved themselves into a committee of the whole, and resumed the consideration of the motion of June 7 (declaring Independence). It was debated through the day, and at length was decided in the affirmative by the vote of nine states, viz: New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia. Pennsylvania and South Carolina voted against it. Delaware, two members present, was divided. The delegates from New York declared they were for it, and their constituents also; but that the instructions against it which had been given them a twelve-month before, were still unrevoked; that their convention was to meet in a few days, and they asked leave to suspend their vote till they could obtain a repeal of their instructions. Ourselves, that all this was in a committee of the whole Congress, and that according to the mode of their proceeding, the resolution of that committee to declare themselves independent was to be put to the same persons consuming their time in a Congress.

"It was now evening, the members exhausted by a debate of nine hours, during which all the powers of the soul had been expended with the magnitude of the object, and the delegates of South Carolina desired that the final decision might be put off to the next morning, that they might still weigh in their own minds their ultimate vote. It was put off, and in the morning of the 2d of July, they joined the other nine states in voting for it. The members of the Pennsylvania delegation, too, who had been absent the day before, came in and turned the vote of their state in favor of independence, and a third member of the state of Delaware, who, bearing of the division in the sentiment of his two colleagues, had traveled post to arrive in time, now came in and decided the vote of that state also for the resolution. Thus 12 states voted for it at the time of its passage, and the delegates of New York, the thirteenth state, received instructions within a few days to add theirs to the general vote; so that there was not a dissenting voice.

"Congress proceeded immediately to consider the Declaration of Independence which had been reported by their committee on the 28th of June. The several paragraphs of that were debated for three days, viz: the 2d, 3d and 4th of July. In the evening of the 4th they were finally closed, and the instruments approved by an unanimous vote, and signed by every member, except Mr. Dickinson.

The first celebration of our national birthday took place in Philadelphia four days after the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, July 8, 1776, with all the clamor and rejoicing that today heralds its approach. Amid the huzzas of the people the king's arms were torn down, the troops paraded, and on the commons the proclamation was read before each of the five battalions. Bonfires blazed in the evening, cannon were fired, bells were rung, and the populace celebrated generally. The next day General Washington arrived in New York and took charge of the demonstrations there.

MICHIGAN NEWS TERSELY TOLD

Battle Creek—Miss Dorothy Bauman, 211 North Maplewood avenue, Chicago, was drowned while bathing at Gull lake, where Miss Bauman was one of a dozen Chicago girls attending a house party given by Miss Florence Upjohn of Kalamazoo, at "Idlewild," a cottage belonging to her father, Doctor Upjohn. The girls were having a merry time in the water when Miss Bauman strayed beyond her depth and sank almost without warning. Within four minutes her body had been recovered, and for two hours every effort at artificial respiration was made, but in vain. Miss Bauman was twenty-two years old and had just graduated from a Chicago school.

Calumet—Abraham Nickassari, aged thirty, married, blew himself to pieces near here. He is the third man to kill himself in the same manner within two weeks.

Grand Rapids—C. B. Smith, representing the agricultural department at Washington, was here and conferred with Secretary M. C. Huggert of the Association of Commerce, regarding securing scientific farm management for Kent county, which work the government is preparing to start about July 1. Kent will pay half of an agent's $2,000 salary and establish the system locally. The government pays the rest.

Traverse City—After being out almost 23 hours, the jury in the case of the people vs. William and Laura Witte, charged with manslaughter for causing the death of their child by cruel treatment, returned a verdict of guilty of assault and battery for both of them, and recommended mercy of the court for Mrs. Witte. This case has occupied the attention of the court for two weeks. The verdict was a great surprise to the city. Witte was given 90 days in the Detroit house of correction and fined $100, and in default of the fine an extra 90 days. Mrs. Witte was given 90 days in the Detroit house of correction.

Kalamazoo—Peter Van Dam, aged 26, who a few weeks ago suffered terrible burns to both feet in a foundry where he worked, refused to be removed from Borgess hospital and taken to the poor farm. The owner of the foundry where the accident happened notified the poor officials that he would no longer pay the hospital bill. Van Dam, being without finances, was ordered removed to the poor farm. Later when the poor superintendent went to the hospital to get him, he refused to go. Borgess hospital officials finally consented to keep Van Dam until he had recovered without expense.

Jackson—Lying down upon the Michigan Central track near Ingalls street, Edward Charles, a well-known Jackson man, was run over by train No. 4, and instantly killed. The body, terribly mangled, was found by J. L. Connell, Charles was a bartender at the Calkins buffet up until about two years ago, and had many friends. He has been crippled for several years, his condition recently becoming very serious. Without funds and too proud to call upon his friends for aid, Charles became despondent.

Portland—With the closing of the school year the teaching staff of the local schools undergoes a number of radical changes. Several teachers have tendered their resignations and the board is scurrying about to select their successors. Prof. J. Howard Jackson, at the head of the science department, has resigned and will fill the position of Prof. William McCracken in the Western State Normal college at Kalamazoo, next year. While Prof. McCracken makes an extensive tour of Europe.

Flint—The first arrest in connection with the derailling of Pere Marquette passenger train No. 6 which went through an open switch in the north end of the city, was made when Edgar Hunt, aged 15, was taken into custody. The lad at first denied he had tampered with the switch, but when he was visited by Detective John Peters of Saginaw at the county house, where he is being detained, he is said to have admitted his guilt and implicated two other boys.

Saginaw—Henry O'Brien, aged 57, superintendent at the Uncle Henry mine in Buena Vista, was instantly killed when his clothing was caught in the flywheel of the gasoline engine used for pumping purposes. His body was rolled around several times before the engine was stopped. One of O'Brien's legs was pulled from the socket, both arms were broken and his scalp was torn from the skull. He was standing close to the engine when his clothing caught in the machinery.

Lowell—Mrs. Thilo Seger, a farmer's wife, aged 35 years, living six miles north of Lowell, in Keene township, committed suicide by taking strychnine. Her husband had been away for a short time. On returning he missed her from the house and found her in the orchard. He assisted her to the house, where she called for a drink of water and soon after died. It is thought her mind was affected by some nervous malady. But little is known of the family, as they recently moved on the farm from Fruitport.

Menominee—The jury in the case of Mottie Christanson, charged with murder at Oconto, returned a verdict of not guilty. The defendant was alleged to have sent poisoned candy to a rival which was found and eaten by a child, causing its death.

Grand Rapids—Mrs. Jennie Denney, prominent in Grand Rapids clubs and society, was a member of the graduating class of the Central High school here. She is 50 years old.

The Village Cut-Up. "Charley Billingsby always has something funny to say, no matter what happens."

"I know. He's awfully comical."

"I often wonder how he thinks of the humorous things he says. He's just perfectly killing. I never heard him call an umbrella anything but a bumbarsboot."

BURNING ITCH WAS CURED

"I deem it my duty to tell about a cure that the Cuticura Soap and Ointment have made on myself. My trouble began in eczemas breaking out right in the edge of my hair on the forehead, and spread over the front part of the top of my head from ear to ear, and over my ears which caused a most fearful burning itch, or eczema."

"For three years I had this terrible burning out on my forehead and scalp. I tried our family doctor and he failed to cure it. Then I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and used them for two months with the result of a complete cure. Cuticura Soap and Ointment should have the credit due, and I have advised a lot of people to use them." (Signed) C. D. Tharrington, Creek, N. C., Jan. 28, 1911.

Itching Scalp—Hair Fall Out.

"I will say that I have been suffering with an itching on my scalp for the past few years. My hair fell out in spots all over my head. My scalp started to trouble me with sores, then the sores healed up, and crusts formed on the top. Then the hair fell out and left me three bald spots the shape of a half dollar. I went to more than one doctor, but could not get any relief, so I started to use the Cuticura Remedies. I tried one bar of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment, and felt relieved right away. Now the bald spots have disappeared, and my hair has grown, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I highly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all that are suffering with scalp trouble." MAKING THE MOST OF LIFE

There is good gospel in that distinction. How to make the most out of life is the most important question, and one that education has much to do with. A rightly educated person can get more happiness out of $1,000 a year than an illiterate can out of $5,000.

It is culture—the right sort—that has learned that money cannot buy the real joys of life. You remember, Tilbottom in Currie "Prue and I," how when his friend wandered through the summer fields, and picked flowers, he stopped and said, "Thank God, I own this landscape." The friend suggested he thought old Bourne owned it, whereupon Tilbottom exclaimed:

"Does Bourne own the sun and the sky? Does Bourne own that walling shadow yonder? Does Bourne own the golden luster of the grain, or the motion of the wood, or those ghosts of hills that glide pallid along the horizon? Bourne owns the dirt and fences; I own the beauty that makes the landscape."

That's the secret of life, and

It is real learning that tells one how he can get joy out of the beauty and harmony of things about him. Now is a good time to read "Prue and I," but don't attempt it unless you are sure you have a soul. There are so many things that bring on disappointment because one is minus a soul. So, as the superintendent suggests, the producer is not the final object of education; he is no more important as an educational product than the consumer; not as much. —Ohio State Journal.
